Dear Families

I hope that you have found parents' evening useful in getting to know how your child is progressing at school. Thank you to everyone who has completed and returned a questionnaire. If you haven't, please ask your child's teacher for a form and return to the school office. It is important to the school that we know your views and how you feel we can get better and better.

It's great to see so many of you now following us on Twitter it is where you will find up to date photos of everyday life at St Winefride's.

We have lots of different opportunities for children to experience a rich curriculum. This week a group of pupils have experienced a drama workshop run in conjunction with Loughborough Grammar School. Thanks to Fr Michael for the use of the church hall. After half term we will be having an artist in to work with the children on sculptures which we hope will make our front playground more inviting.

Your child's education is a partnership between you as parents and the school and it is so important that we work together. This is especially the case when it comes to school trips. Although most trips ask for voluntary contributions if there are not enough parent contributions then we will not be able to run the trip. As you will be aware, most of the cost of trips is actually the coach and so that is why we try to keep costs down by inviting visitors such as the drama company for the pantomime. If there is ever a problem with paying the contributions I am always happy to discuss this with you.

Best wishes

Mrs Catherine Murphy
